DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C.

121:

- I. Claim 1, drawn to a magnetic gasket, classified in class 277, subclass 629.
- II. Claim 13, drawn to an appliance, classified in class 52, subclass 309.13.
- III. Claims 21 and 32, drawn to a method of making, classified in class 277, subclass 316.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

1. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination.

Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because any magnetic gasket can be used. The subcombination has separate utility such as the magnetic gasket can be used in an airplane hatch.

Art Unit: 3673

2. Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made.

The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made of an already cured seal and adhered onto the door.

3. Inventions II and III are related as process of making and product made.

The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made of an already cured seal and adhered onto the door.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

If either invention I or II is elected, Claim 1 is generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising:

A. Species of Figures 1 and 2

B. Species of Figure 3

Art Unit: 3673

C. Species of Figures 4 and 5

D. Species of Figure 6

E. Species of Figure 7

F. Species of Figure 8

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Also if either invention II or III is elected, Claim 1 is generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species comprising:

a. Species of Figure 9

c. Species of Figure 11

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species, even though this requirement is traversed.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

The applicant must elect invention I, II or III. If either invention I or II is elected, the applicant must then elect one species from A-F. If either invention II or III is elected, the applicant must elect one species from a-c. In other words, if II is elected, the applicant must elect from A-F and a-c.

A telephone call was made to Randolph J. Huis on 8/19/2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
